"We are confident the Chinese run the APEC summit."

- Visit to the U.S. National Center President Monica Willie APEC "Guangming Daily" (October 12, 2013 08 Edition)

Aspect

"China in the organization of international meetings has a very rich experience, has successfully held an APEC summit in 2008 and successfully hosted the Olympics grand scale, we run the 2014 APEC summit in China confident, but also on the summit filled with more much looking forward to."

On China hosted the APEC summit in 2014, the National President Monica Willie APEC Center in Washington recently interview with this reporter, said: "China in the organization of international meetings has a very rich experience, has been successfully held once APEC summit, in 2008 and successfully hosted the Olympics grand scale, we run the 2014 APEC summit in China confident, but also on the summit filled with more expectations."

Reporter: What is your 2014 APEC summit design issues what are your expectations?

Monica: As far as I know, Chinese government officials and academics have with the United States on the 2014 APEC summit and other issues with the initial contact and exchange, but in any case, next year's APEC summit should continue to interoperability, trade facilitation oriented and paid great attention to regional economic integration, which are of great concern to the Asia-Pacific countries. As the APEC presidency in 2014, according to the organizing committee of the program, China will issue to each Member State to seek advice, is expected in December this year, officials at the APEC members, delegates will be on the 2014 APEC summit agenda issues other exchanges. In the U.S. view, infrastructure development, women's economic, health, food security, supply chain, customs rules should become necessary to discuss the summit's agenda.

Reporter: It is said that the marine economy in 2014 will be included in APEC main topic. What do you think?

Monica: This is a very good idea, very meaningful. This year's APEC summit in Bali is one of the main topics raised in Indonesia blue economy, to some extent that the marine economy. Although most of the countries in Asia Pacific are surrounded by ocean, but this is the first formal discussion of the APEC summit marine economic issues. China next year when the APEC summit held in turn continue to emphasize and expand this theme, which will not only help to maintain the sustainability of the APEC summit agenda, and APEC countries can take advantage of China's influence in this new field of marine economy has made new achievements. APEC's mission is to expand trade and investment, promote trade facilitation, suggesting that perhaps the marine economy is conducive to the realization of this objective. Because trade-related issues such as marine fisheries, marine environmental security, shipping and other issues will help to expand trade and investment, and promote the development of trade facilitation. Currently, APEC member economies in the field of maritime cooperation is still in the initial exploratory stage, I believe that this area will become the next APEC countries to one of the focus areas.

Reporter: There is a recent U.S. officials and scholars have suggested that China will be the anti-corruption, urbanization issues into the 2014 APEC summit, What is your comment?

Monica: Corruption relationship with a country is able sustainable development, the Group of Twenty summit in St. Petersburg recently has issued a statement on anti-corruption issues, which is the world on the issue of anti-corruption is a major achievement. China ongoing corruption, if APEC cooperation on this issue, will promote sustainable economic development in the Asia-Pacific region.

As urbanization, APEC members, many cities are facing the challenges of urbanization. In 2011 the United States had to urban development as APEC CEO Summit an issue in many cities such as Mexico City, Toronto, Jakarta, so send a representative to discuss the issue. I think China will be the subject of urbanization as 2014APEC very attractive. China's large population, urbanization facing long-term problems. China's urbanization has its own study experiences and achievements, particularly in the renewable energy, rural social security, rural health, rural economy, food security and other fields, China can open a new perspective to discuss the issues of urbanization.

Reporter: Could you talk about the United States in 2011 Honolulu APEC summit held in the case.

Monica: From what I have engaged in commercial areas, I think the APEC Business Advisory Council (ABAC) in development issues played a very important role. Annual APEC CEO Summit is an important part of the APEC summit. CEO Summit is very pragmatic, the world's leading business leaders gather to discuss the Asia-Pacific region's problems, thinking in the region opportunities. Business leaders also through this platform to make recommendations to the leaders of member countries, dialogue directly with the leaders. This is a unique and innovative APEC Forum model, political leaders and business leaders in a relaxed atmosphere interaction and dialogue discussed.

I think, as of now, APEC CEO Summit is unique. U.S. 2011 specifically added the leaders of the major powers keynote sessions and dialogue between business leaders, so that a more active participation of the business elite APEC CEO Summit.
